ABSTRACT

The term weather is commonly used to refer to the condition of the atmosphere as it affects people's activities on the earth's surface. Four weather elements are considered in this unit: clouds, precipitation, temperature, and wind. This publication details the materials, objectives, supplemental materials, background information for the eight lessons in the first grade unit, a quiz, weather poems, and an evaluation of the unit. For each lesson objectives, materials, preparation, procedures, and reproducible worksheets are presented. Most information is presented in the context of Anchorage (Alaska). (CW)
